

Weekender

Friday, May 5, 2006

www.dailylocal.com

Something to offend everyone

The easily offended are warned to stay far away from the Fame Fire Company's comedy show on May 6.

The West Chester fire company is bringing in "The Killers of Comedy" heard on "The Howard Stern Show" - The Rev. Bob Levy, Sal "The Stockbroker" and Richard Christy - along with "Open Mike" and Geno Bisconte, heard on "The Kidd Chris Show" on WYSP-FM.

With something to offend everyone, the show should be a treat for those clued in to comedy that pushes boundaries and ultimately wins over listeners.

Tickets for the 8 p.m. show are $30 and are available by calling 610-692-5404, or online at www.fame-fireco.org.

BOB LEVY

The event is definitely for ages 21 and older. Tickets include beer and soda.

The fire company is at 200 E. Rosedale Ave. in West Chester.